THE DELIVERY OF THE INAUGURAL ADDRESS-UNI-VERSAL APPROVAL OF ITS SENTIMENTS-BUT TWO POLITICAL PARTIES LEFT-THE OFFICE-SEEKERS

-ILLNESS OF GENERAL WALLERINGS PTC

Washington, March 4, 1853. General Pierce delivered his inaugural address to-day, without notes of any kind; and the manner in which he did so must have convinced all who heard him that the sentiments of his addess were not mere idle words, but came from the heart. No man could question that the would be carried out to the very letter. Sepators Cass, Douglas, Soulé, and others, are all equally satisfied. A fresh and vigorous spirit pervaded throughout, and the deep interest with which every word was listened to marked the tribute, not to the new-born power, but to sound American doctrines. Several distinguished gentlemen remarked that the HERALD'S estimate of the charac ter of President Pierce was fully borne out in his inau

It was snowing during the whole of the delivery of the address, but, uncovered and without an overcoat, General Pierce seemed forgetful of everything but the glorious theme he was discussing.

Any discontent which prevailed as to the personnel of the Cabinet seems to have vanished, the general remark being that it mattered little who were in the Cabinet when the broad and national views of the administration were so clearly and firmly enunciated.

The address gives the coup de grace to the whig party.

The address gives the coup de grace to the whig party. There are now but two divisions—the national democratic party, and the abolition free soil party.

Truth compels me to say, that whilst the platform and portice applauded the national principles of the address, the crowd of upturned faces below most vigorously cheered the first allusion to the tenure of office holders. The President did not appear remarkably well pleased with the clamor at that particular passage.

The gentlemen whose names I telegraphed you last night as having been officially given by General Pierce as his cabinet, accompanied him

It is estimated that there were about forty thousand people present.

I regret to state that Gen. Hiram Walbridge has been confined to his room for some days.

THE INAUGURAL-THE LAST NIGHT IN CONGRESS-QUEER SCENES AND CURIOUS PROCEEDINGS -SWARMS OF STRANGERS, ETC. WASHINGTON, March 4, 1853.

Nothing can exceed the high gratification of all Union men here, at the strong and manly language of General Pierce in support of the Constitution, the Compromises

It is remarkable that the snow storm which com menced this morning was nearly suspended during the inauguration ceremonies, but, immediately after, was renewed with increased violence. Yesterday the scene in the capitol till midnight was awful. The rush the crush, and the confusion within both houses and outside cannot be described by words Towards the small hours of morning, the crowd thinned out considerably, and both houses diminished to a few scattering members till the votes were called, when the scattering members till the votes were called, when the sleepers on the sofas, and in the side rooms were drummed up. There was a fine chance, however, for the Galphins, for neither house appeared to know what it was doing, while the lobby members were wide awake. President Fillmore was in the capitol, signing bills till after midnight. The city, all night, was in an uproar. Bands of music, rockets, artillery, and wandering strangers with carpet bags were to be seen at every turn. The city this morning swarmed like a beehive.

THE TOPIC OF CONVERSATIOS-EVERYBODY, EXCEPT THE BARNBURNERS, PLEASED WITH THE ADDRESS—GENERAL PIERCE'S FOREIGN POLICY— CURAN AFFAIRS-COURTESIES BETWEEN THE PRE-SIDENT AND EX-PRESIDENT—PROVISIONS SCARCE AT THE WHITE HOUSE, ETC. WASHINGTON, March 4-11 P. M.

The address of General Pierce to-day, is the subject of conversation among all parties at the hotels to night Everybody is delighted with it except the barnburners Even the whigs praise it. General Cass says it is a good old fogy speech; and Judge Douglas says it is of the Young America school. It would seem that General Pierce's observations on foreign relations are not only not an empty flourish, but have a deep import He recently received a telegraphic measage, from a reliable source, in reference to the Black Warrier affair. He sent the despatch to Mr. Everett, calling his particular attention to it. Mr. Everett said he did not see what could be done. "But I do," was the reply of General P. So you need not be surprised to hear soon that he will take an important step in reference to Cuban affairs. The President intends to manage the foreign relations himself.

It is curious that Fillmore and Pierce not only changed places to day in a political sense, but exchanged constress. Mr. Fillmore taking the rooms that General

It is considered a courteous act on the part of Mr. Fillmore to have written Gen. Pierce to try to accompany him in the procession to the capitol.

D. E. Sickles, who, with his bride, is occupying the rooms at Willard's adjoining those held by the President, was invited to a sea: in one of the two carriages which contained the cabinet, and Jefferson Davis being absent, many persons mistook Mr. Sickles for him.

It is a singular fact that when Gen. Pierce arrived this afternoon at the White House, quite exhausted with the ceremonies of the day, and with having spoken so long in the open sir, he could get nothing to eat or drinknot even as much milk as was necessary for a cup of tea or coffee. So you see what it is to be a President.

The Weather.—The weather, yesterday, was very fine until six o'elock in the evening, when the wind changed to eastward, and a snow storm immediately followed, which lasted up to a late hour last night. The greater part of the snow, however, melted away as soon as it touched the ground, though in some localities it fell to the depth of an inch. At ten o'clock last night, the thermometer at the Herald office stood at the freezing point. At three o'clock this morning, the snow was over two inches deep, and still falling.

AVALANCHE ON THE HUDSON RIVER RAHLROAD.—On Thursday afternoon, a luge rock, about one hundred tons in weight, rolled upon the track of the Hudson River Railroad, two miles above Cold Spring. The up train and down train transferred their passengers at the obstruction, and each returned. The rock was so disposed of that the train due at 10 o'clock last evening arrived at 12 o'clock.

The INVENTOR'S ASSOCIATION.—This body held their fourth meeting on the 2d inst., at 413 Broadway, Mr. W. Wright in the chair, and Mr. J. K. Fisher Secretary. Clinton Rosevelt, Esq. reported a form of constitution and bylaws, which, with slight amendments, were adopted. After which a conversational discussion ensued as to the natural right of property in discoveries and inventions, and the defects of the existing laws on those subjects. It was urged that discoverers and inventors have been the benefactors of the race, and should be cherished and protected, and not be robbed and plundered, as has been too often the case heretofore. Individuals, nations, and the race are prosperous and happy in proportion as wise and just principles and laws are made known and estab lished on this, as well as on all other subjects.

The Almshouse Vagrant—An allusion was made by the Almshouse Governors, on Tuesday, about a vagrant sent up by a police justice, who had on his person $485. In reference to this case, it appears by the commitment that the individual alluded to gave himself up, on his own confession, as an habitual drunkard, and was sent on the island for two months. The commitment is dated February $2, 1853. It is a daily occurrence for men and women to make application to the sitting magistrates, at the police courts, wishing to be sent upon the island, on their own request. In such cases, the magistrates generally send them up for thirty or sixty days; but in no such cases is it their duty, nor do they think of searching the person, to ascertain if any money is secreted on them.

ACTION AGAINST A BAILBOAD.

MARCH 4.—Peter A. Townsend vs. The Patterson and New York and Eric Railroad.—This was an action for damages done to the plaintiff, by breaking his arm, under the following circumstances:—On the 21st June, 1850, the plaintiff was a passenger on the defendants' cars, and when between Paterson and Jersey City, sat with his elbow projecting outside of the window; whilst the cars were passing over the Passaic bridge, his arm struck against a piece of timber which was placed to strengthen the draw-bridge, and was broken above the elbow; the plaintiff, who suffered for four months, now brings his action for damages to the amount of $10,000.

For the defence it was contended that bills were posted in the cars, cautioning passengers not to place their arms outside the windows, and that the injury to the plaintiff occurred by his own negligence in doing so.

mury to the plaintiff occurred by his own negligence in doing so.

The Judge, in his charge, said that if there was negligence on the part of the plaintiff he could not recover; if there was a notice posted up, cautioning persons not to put their arms out of the windows, and that plaintiff did so without any cause of alarm or sudden impulse, he could not recover; if there was no notice, and he projected his arm no further than a cautious person would do, he was entitled to recover. The jury rendered a sealed verdict for plaintiff, for $500.
